

Sabine Hutchison

Sabine Hutchison is a scientist-turned-entrepreneur, a passionate advocate for gender parity, and the founder of The Ripple Network, a community dedicated to empowering women to own their stories and amplify their impact. With over two decades of experience, Sabine possesses a deep understanding of the challenges women face in the workplace and is committed to turning those challenges into opportunities for growth and leadership.

About Sabine

Her own career path, marked by international moves, industry shifts, and entrepreneurial ventures, has taught her the importance of resilience, risk-taking, and embracing the ripple effect of our actions. She shares these insights through keynote speeches, workshops, and her upcoming book, "A Woman's Guide to Career Clarity, Impact, & Legacy," which includes a transformative career workbook.
